Success of Will, J. McConnell-Railron Accident - County Court Matters - A New M. E. Church,

MOUNDSVILLE, April 22, 1879. Editors Intelligencer.

It was my privilege to spend Saturday and Sunday in Cameron, and I found tha little town in a state of great excitemen on the temperance question. Mr. McCon nell began his labors there on last Tues day evening and will continue them 'until with great success. On Sunday the ministers withdrew their regular appointments and Union temperance services were held oon, children's meeting, at the same place while at night the M. E. Church, the lar-gest in the place, was literally packed. About 50 signed the pledge last night, mong whom were some eight or ten habitual drunkards. The people in Came-ron are in earnest in the matter and have oxicants in their town. Mr. McConnell is surely a great worker. As a speaker he has few equals, and he is destined to become one of the first lecturers of the day. His great power is shown in his ability to not only interest an audience, but to create the same enthusiasm that he himself entertains.

On Saturday afternoon I had the pleasure of looking around the town some what. I found business apparently brisk, and all the merchants seemed in good spirits.

On our way out to Cameron on Saturday quite an accident took place near Sheppard tunnel. One of the railroad hands

H. H. Harrison, M. D., Wm. Scott, Robt, Merritt, Martin Kirtland, Archibald Major, Joseph Boggs, S. R. Finny, J. M. Kinslow, C. G. Workman, H. M. Pickens, Jno. Campbell, M. D., Thomas Hamilton, Jas. M. Creary, Samuel Pollock, John Hanna. Rev. Robt. Alexander was chosen Moderator for the ensuing six months, and A. J. Alexander Temporary Clerk.

The choir, composed of the best home talent of all the churches, was under the able leadership of Prof. Schofield, and ushored in the regular exercises by a grand voluntary, followed by the grand old hymn, "Come Thou Fount of Every Blessing," sung to an old fashioned tune in a soul stirring old fashioned way.

Prayer by Rev. Robt. Alexander, when Dr. Dickson, the retiring Moderator, read the 72d Psalm, and announced his text from Acts, 22d chapter and 21st verse:
"And he said unto me depart, and I will send thee far hence unto the Gentiles."
The sermon was characteristic of its anthor, and was an elaborate argument in favor of the great mission of the church.

After a hymn, a motion was made and carried that Rev. Ward, of the Baptist Church; D. E. Edgell and G. B. Smith, of the M. E. Church, and Rev. Mackay, of Columbus, be invited to sit as corresponding members.

On motion, it was agreed that Presbytery meet at half-past eight in the morning; adjourn at 12; convene at 2 r. M.; adjourn at 5; take a recess till 7 o'clock.

SENATE.

At the expiration of the morning hour Mr. Wallace's resolution to vest the appointment and removal of Senate employes in the Secretary and Sergeant-at-Arms was taken up, the question being on Mr. Edmunds' substitute, which was opposed by Mr. Pendleton and advocated by Mr. Conkling. Owing to the absence of Mr. Edmunds the resolution went over until te-morrow. Mr. Pendleton and advocated by Mr. Edl Conkling. Owing to the absence of Mr. Edmunds the resolution went over until to-morrow.

Mr. Pendleton gave notice that on Thursday, after the disposition of the Army Bill, he would call up his bill providing for giving the Heads of the Departments seats on the floor of the Senate and House.

Consideration of the Army Bill was then resumed.

authority of the President to answer a call to repel invasion or suppress insurrection in any way abridged. The amendment is germane to the bill and is simply a condition as to the use of the army which the people's representatives had a perfect right to impose. It is not in any proper sense general legislation, and if it was, that the statute books are full of precedents that the friends of the present measure might cite against their opponents. Whether the clause in question ought to be repealed, is a fair subject for discussion, but the form of presenting is not liable to just criticism. Personally I should have preferred to vote on the proposition as an than in the observance. If this course had

The President's sphere of action is defined and any attempt to influence legislation by suggestions of what he may or may not do is an obtrusind deserving rebuke. It will be time enough to criticize the act of the President when he shall have exercised his constitutional right and any discussion of his supposed course before the nis wholly out of place in this body. Let us hope Mr. President, when this bill has passed from our hands, that the angry debate which has attended it will operate as electricity does in purifying the atmosphere and we will all come together better disposed to give to the country what has been given to the party in a united effort to provide relief for the prevailing distress in every pursuit of life.
